

Improving Performance of the Land Cover Classifier

This chart shows some general guidelines when training a convolutional neural network. The next page will provide details on each of these suggestions.

In addition to these recommendations, you should use a validation data set when possible and use the training progress plot to observe network training.

